Educating teachers at Summer Ag Institute I

By: Trent Cooper

On Monday June 12th at 8 am, when most teachers are enjoying their first week of summer break, a group of 12 teachers in the Kane County area attended their first day of the Kane County Farm Bureau 2017 Summer Ag Institute.

These teachers had a wide range of experience, some young teachers reaching out to get credits to begin their master's program, some looking for continuing education hours on top of their masters, and others just for the opportunity to learn more about agriculture. Regardless of their reasons to be there they were all eager to learn and ready for a long week ahead of them.

We spent the day Monday inside the "classroom" (at the Farm Bureau) and went over what to expect for the week, a few ice breaker activities, and learned about how teachers can utilize the Farm Bureau to get supplies for their classrooms. Commodity group presentations and a presentation from the Kane DuPage Soil and Water Conservation District rounded out the first day of the weeklong class.

On Tuesday we began our first day of tours. Our first destination was Otto and Sons (OSI) of West Chicago, a meat packing plant that supplies McDonald's. At OSI we got to see the meat processing and packing side of agriculture. From there we went to Gehrke family farm in Elgin to learn more about hay production and then to Luck-E Holsteins near Hampshire, a dairy farm owned by the Engel family. At the dairy farm, we went on a farm tour to see first-hand how milk travels from a cow to your fridge. We ended the day at Esther's Place in Big Rock, where we learned more about making fiber. We even got to make our own felt watermelon.

Wednesday we made our way to the Klein's vegetable farm near Burlington, and got a chance to tour their fields of fresh produce. Buck Brothers in Hampshire was our next stop, where we had the opportunity to learn more about modern farm implements and teachers drove a John Deere combine, a Four-Trac, or both! A grain operation was the next stop on our tour, which included an inside look at what the year is like at the Nesler Grain Farm. We even got the chance to see a working grain elevator. Finally, we headed back to the office for a presentation from Harry Patterson. Harry is a retired teacher who has become very busy being a bee keeper. He spoke to us about how honey is collected and all the uses for honey.

Thursday was the final day of tours, starting with Dunteman Turf Farm in Kaneville. Here we got to see how sod, often used on golf courses or in neighborhoods, is harvested. We then headed to Midwest Groundcovers in Virgil to tour all their greenhouses and learn about plant production. After the nursery, we headed over to Gould's farm, west of Kaneville, where we were welcomed with lunch provided by the Kane County Corn Growers. After lunch, we toured the 750 sow farrowing operation and even saw some baby piglets. We ended the day at Mighty Vine in Rochelle, a large-scale hydroponic tomato greenhouse. We got to eat some delicious MightyVine tomatoes and tour their 15 acre glass greenhouse.

We finished up the class on Friday, June 16. The teachers all came prepared with a poster board of an ag-related learning activity they can share to their students. It was very inspiring seeing how much they learned in a weeks' time and how they can bring this information into their classrooms and teach students what agriculture is.

One of the highlights of any KCFB Summer Ag Institute for teachers, in an urban area like Kane County, is the opportunity to climb into the cab—and drive—modern farm equipment like this John Deere 9620RX 4-Trax tractor. One dozen Kane County teachers got that chance, and got to drive a combine as well, at Buck Bros. Inc in Hampshire as part of the 2017 graduate credit institute held June 12-16.

Bill Dunteman (far left) led teachers on a tour of the family's turf farm in Kaneville and discussed the differences in the production methods and inputs of organic and conventionally produced corn and soybeans raised on the farm. Teachers had to rise and get on the road early in order to watch a demonstration of the cutting, rolling, stacking and shipping of sod to area homebuilders and home improvement stores.

Trent Cooper of Yorkville is KCFB's summer intern

The Kane County Farm Bureau is pleased to welcome
Trent Cooper as the 2017

Summer Intern. Trent grew up in Yorkville and went to Yorkville High School before graduating in May of 2014.

Following graduation of Yorkville High School, Trent began college at Joliet Junior College. After two successful years at JJC and completion of the Agriculture Production program, he transferred to Illinois State University where he is currently going into his senior year.

At Illinois State University, Trent is a double major in Agriculture Communications and Animal Industry Management.

Outside of the Kane County Farm Bureau he is an active member of the Kendall County Young Leaders, Vice President of the Collegiate Farm Bureau at Illinois State University and is also very active at his family farm.

Following the completion of his internship with KCFB and graduating from Illinois State University, Trent plans to continue to advocate for agriculture and educate consumers on what farmers do while still remaining active in the family farm.

Kane County Farm Bureau FOUNDATION offers internships to qualifying college applicants during winter, spring, and summer breaks. Over the past 25 years, the Foundation has provided more than $700,000 in scholarships and internships to area students studying for a career in agriculture. For more information, visit the scholarship and internship page at www.kanecfb.com.

Learn about the Next Evolution of Ag, July 26-26

It is no surprise that things have changed over the years. Horses are no longer the only available mode of transportation and candlelight isn't the only source of non-natural light around. Since the dawn of time, humans have been evolving and inventing new efficient ways to do something ... and farming is no different. From plows pulled by oxen to $100,000 tractors, agriculture and farming has had its fair share of evolution.

This year, Illinois Farm Bureau's IFB Farm Income and Innovations Conference theme is SMART FARMING: The Next Evolution in Agriculture. Illinois Farm Bureau members, staff, farmers, and agribusiness professionals are invited to attend the this conference, held July 26, 2016 at the Bloomington-Normal Marriott Hotel and Conference Center. This event will delve into how changing consumer desires, supply chain management, and public policies are impacting today's ever-changing agriculture.

This year's conference will consist of 2 general sessions and 3 breakout sessions. General session 1 will feature a Keynote (continued on page 3)

KCFB Board meeting review

The June meeting of the Kane County Farm Bureau Board of Directors was called to order at 7:30 pm on June 6, 2017.

President White gave his report, followed by the Managers report from Steve Arnold. Arnold reminded directors about the NEW IFB Benefits app and gave them a copy of the June Membership Matters Monthly and a June/July calendar of events to take home. He also provided the District 1 Director's monthly report. Two interns were added to the summer payroll, Susie Thompson, who will be working with Kane County Development Department, and Trent Cooper, who is working with the KCFB Foundation.

Mike Kenyon reported on County Board and Forest Preserve District activities.

Bill Collins gave the PR & Membership Report. He informed the board of contributions to the KCFB Foundation during the previous month including: Harvest for ALL Contributions by: Mike and Carol Kenyon to Food for Greater Elgin and South Elgin Food Pantry, and FOUNDA-TION contributions by: AGCO Parts employees of Batavia, Ken Gustafson of Elburn.

Wayne Schneider reported on government affairs topics. Directors were provided with the May 19 agenda for the Stormwater TAC, and reminded about the Ag Advisory committee meeting in mid-July and the Farmland Assessment Meeting (June 21).

A written AITC report was presented, informing Directors that both graduate credit Summer Ag Institutes for teachers were full. National AITC Conference was June 20-23 in Kansas City, and AITC Coordinator Suzi Myers was in attendance.

The Young Farmers met on Wednesday, June 14 at the Biddle Farm for their annual summer BBQ. They spent some time mending the gates for the farm zoo the Kane County Fair. The group discussed setup for the Fair display (July 17), the upcoming Quiz Bowl, and the Grain Bin Safety Display.

Arnold gave a Women's Committee update, telling directors that the committee members planned "Appreciation & Farewell" luncheon at their meeting on June 14th. The luncheon will take place on August 2 at Fireside Grille in Sugar Grove.

Correspondence was circulated from: Billy Dumoulin, thanks for General Ag Scholarship, KCFB Foundation; Allison Steinenger, thanks for General Ag Scholarship, KCFB Foundation; Living Well Cancer Resource Center - thanks for Bridge Walk sponsorship (2); Kathy Moecher, Batavia Public Library – thanks for book donation, National Library Week;

The next scheduled Kane County Farm Bureau Board of Directors meeting will be held on Tuesday, July 6th at 7:30pm.

Farm Fresh and Locally Grown

As the summer months begin, Kane County growers have a variety of fresh fruits and vegetables to offer you and your family, both at local roadside stands and at Farmer's Markets. KCFB's Bounty of Kane directory lists farmer's markets throughout the county and features a quick reference map and contact information for 38 farms that sell direct to consumers.

Visit www.bountyof kane.org to view the interactive map, access web links and contact information for each of the farms and markets. and download a copy to print at home. Your support of local farmers at farm stands and farmer's markets is greatly appreciated.

"We're all about supporting our local farmers and businesses here in East Dundee," said Village President Lael Miller. "The markets allow folks to come for a stroll, take in the various vendors and just relax for a few hours. Our focus for the Farmers Market is to support good, quality farmers and vendors that have an ability to offer a nice variety of locally-grown products and services that are food-related."

Have more fun at the Kane Co. Fair

Download our APP

One thing is for sure ... the Kane County Farm Bureau would be nothing without its members ... and now more than ever, it pays to be a Farm Bureau member! A new member benefits app was launched in June, which offered over 300,000 local and nation discounts to places members go every day.

As an extra incentive for members to download the app, the Kane County Farm Bureau is offering free ice cream or ice cold water to all members who download the new app at the Kane County Fair.

KCFB Membership Drive

The Fair is a great place to sign up for a Farm Bureau membership! If you sign up to for a new membership while at the Fair, you will receive a complementary ticket for the "31 days of Christmas" raffle. There are 3 membership classifications: voting members (people who own/operate farmland in Kane County and make over $2,500 annually); professional members (people who don't own/operate farmland, in a profession related to agriculture in some way); and associate members (people who are not involved in agriculture, but still support Farm Bureau). Christmas shopping in July!

The Kane County Farm Bureau does an Outdoors themed scholarship fundraising raffle where ticket holders can win prizes from Cabela's valued from $200-$499 each day in December. This year, we're getting ahead of the game by starting this "31 Days of Christmas" raffle in July!

Winning is both fun and easy! Each ticket has a 3 digit number on it, from 000 to 999. You win by exactly matching the evening Pick 3 Illinois Lottery number for that day with the number on your ticket. Prizes include a wide variety of outdoor favorites including a kayak, canoe, golf clubs, hunting and camping gear, and much more! Winners receive a Cabela's gift card in the exact value of the prize. So, if the prize you win isn't just right for you, choose something more appropriate (up to the value of your prize) from Cabela's wide selection of merchandise.

Each ticket costs $20, and will be available starting the first day of the fair (July 20). Proceeds benefit KCFB Foundation, which provides college scholarships and Agriculture in the Classroom programs for local schools. Visit www. kanecfb.com for more details.

Young Farmers meet for summer BBQ

The Young Farmers Annual BBQ took place on June 14th at the home of John and Lauren Biddle in Elburn. There the Young Farmers enjoyed a potluck style dinner with pork chops as the main dish. Chairman Wayne Gehrke called the meeting to order around 6:30pm. Kristi Van Oost gave a Farm Bureau update, informing the Young Farmers about the upcoming county fair. 31 Days raffle tickets will be available for purchase at the fair and a Farm Bureau membership drive will allow NEW members to get a free 31 days raffle ticket.

Andy Lenkaitis provided updates from the Illinois Farm Bureau Young Leaders for District 1, starting with details about the upcoming Young Leader Industry Tour to Canada. Four Kane County committee members, Wayne Gehrke, David Marshall, Sarah Lenkaitis, and Andy Lenkaitis are attending this year's tour. He provided information on the District 1&2 Discussion Meet and Agri-quiz Bowl. This year's discussion meet will be held on July 31th at DeKalb Farm Bureau. The discussion meet is a chance for young farmers to partake in an active discussion with other competitors on pre-decided topics which are related to the agriculture industry. The Agri-Quiz Bowl is being held on August 15th at the Illinois State Fair. The Agri-quiz Bowl is a team event where the Young Farmers from across the state can test their knowledge on various facets of the agricultural industry.

The last few things on the agenda were the Young Farmers' participation in the Kane County Farm Bureau display at the Kane County Fair. The Young Farmers will set up the display on Monday, July 17th. Up to 10 Young Farmers will join First Farm Credit at a Cubs vs Brewers game in Milwaukee on July 28. Starting in August the Young Farmers Committee will meet on the second Wednesday of every month.

Interested in any of these events? The Young Farmers Committee is currently seeking additional participants for both the discussion meet and the Agri-Quiz Bowl. The Kane County Young Farmers Committee is a group of young (18-35 years), local agriculture enthusiasts from around Kane County that promote agriculture, farming, and leadership through activities and programs, both locally and around the state. To learn how to get more involved in the Young Farmers committee, contact Kristi Van Oost at (630) 584-8660 or info@kanecfb.com. New faces are always welcome.

Top: Prior to the start of their meeting on June 14th, the Kane Farmers County Young Committee went to work fixing up the red and white gates, used for the farm zoo at Touch-A-Tractor, Ag Days, and the Kane County Fair. They replaced the loose screws on the middle boards with new carriage bolts, making the gates sturdier. Dale Pitstick (inset) is tightening up the new carriage bolts with a drill. Bottom: John Biddle was deemed the "Grillmaster" for the Young Farmers BBQ. He grilled up the porkchops, which were enjoyed by the committee members while they conducted their meeting. Topics discussed included the Kane County Fair, the Young Leader Industry Tour, the District 1&2 Discussion Meet on July 31, and the Agri-Quizbowl on August 15th.

By Suzi Myers

"Wilderness is not a luxury but a necessity of the human spirit, and as vital to our lives as water and good bread."

— Edward Abbey

Funny how when I'm driving to work I plan out my day and by the time I get to the office, things completely change. Today was no exception. While working on my first project, I ran across the above quote, which struck a chord with me. So now I sit at the computer writing my Farmer article, putting a wrench in my planned day. But, as the farmers say, "Make hay when the sun shines."

Yesterday, I got a call to join a friend kayaking down the Fox River. This lovely river flows right down the middle of St. Charles, letting you be a part of nature within the confines of a city. It doesn't surprise me how many folks are utilizing the river these days to just float upon, fish, throw stones from the shoreline, or to simply sit on the banks and enjoy watching the birds swim or fly by. This is why the quote hit me with such force ... we NEED to have time alone with nature. My time paddling along the river was the best part of my day yesterday, complete with a Bald Eagle sighting.

When my grandkids visit, the first thing they ask is, "Where are we walking?" Their favorite is Tekakwitha Forest Preserve, I think because they can be by the river and in the woods, but we've discovered many areas of adventure within the confines of the Fox River Valley. They marvel at the ice on the river in the winter. In the warmer weather they enjoy the frogs alongside the river or hopping from one lily pad to another; the turtles either swimming or sunning on a log; the evidence that a beaver has been in the area, and of course, the shore birds. When they see a bald eagle soar by or perched in a tree, the wonderment spreads across their faces. We might walk many blocks to reach our "wilderness" location, but once inside the boundaries of the park, the city disappears for awhile and the simple enjoyment of nature takes over.

Yes, the joys of nature can

We sure do! The Kane County Farm Bureau Country Store is your onestop shop for local honey. Choose from 4 different sizes of honey from White Farms Apiary, made locally in Batavia. Local honey has many different benefits, including helping to build immunity to some seasonal allergies. We also have a supply of Happy Bee soaps, handmade by local beekeeper Harry Patterson. Stop in and check out these products and more at the new KCFB store, open Monday-Friday, 8:30-4:30.

also be found within the framework of your own back yard. The garden growing; the worms nurturing the soil; the puddles left after a rain; the birds, caterpillars, wildflowers, trees, even the glorious dandelions can take you away from the stresses of our everyday lives. Observing the clouds (remember trying to find different animals in the cloud shapes?), the moon and stars, looking up through the trees to see the sky, all this can also be done in the comfort of your own back yard.

Richard Louv, author of many books on nature and the necessity of it for the physical and mental health of a child says that nature is actually our "Vitamin N", which should be prescribed for each child.

The Japanese practice of forest bathing is proven to lower heart rate and blood pressure, reduce stress hormone production, boost the immune system, and improve overall feelings of wellbeing. Forest bathing basically just being in the presence of trees - became part of their national public health program in 1982 when the forest ministry coined the phrase "shinin-yoku." You can sit or meander, but the point is to relax rather than accomplish anything.

Take time to notice. I remember being enthralled by the clouds in Iceland. One day, a fellow traveler asked, "Don't you have clouds at home?" Wow, talk about an ah-ha moment ... I need to keep my eyes open anywhere I am, not just in a foreign country.

We are so lucky to have open space around us, our parks, Forest Preserves, and just our back yards need to be used, cherished, and preserved. Enjoy all that these natural areas have

Book of the month

While researching my article this month, I found that Richard Louv has written another book concerning nature and the child adult. Having read his other books, I ordered Vitamin N, finding it a natural follow up to his others. Below are reviews that you might find interesting. The book is available in our KCFB library, thanks to Bob Konen & Dean Dunn.

"Richard Louv's Vitamin N should find its place in the list of essential vitamins! If we stress a connection to the natural environment ... we can lessen the lifelong effects of a stressful childhood, including depression, obesity, behavior problems, drug use, and risk-taking behavior.'

Mary Brown, MD, past board member of the American Academy of Pediatrics

"Both parents and teachers will find this book invaluable. Louv has provided a thoughtful and practical guide to establishing and ensuring a successful relationship between children and the outdoors."

National Science Teachers Association

"A truly engaging book, this resource is an excellent how to guide for getting students and families out in nature."

Trivia

- The first state fair was held in Springfield IL in 1853 and the admission fee was 25 cents
- In 2016 350,000 visitors came to the Illinois State Fair
- The first auto races were held at the Illinois State Fairgrounds racetrack in 1910
- The Dome Building at the Illinois State Fairgrounds was purchased at the 1893 . Chicago World's Fair for $69,000 and taken down and rebuilt in Springfield in 1895
- The Illinois State Fairgrounds now has over 100 permanent building structures
- The oldest county fair in Illinois is the Macoupin County Fair (1852)
- County Fairs are happening all summer long throughout Illinois starting June 6th 2017 in Macon County and ending the year September 10th in the first to mass-produce gum in 1892 and introduced it at the Fair. The first flavor was Juicy Fruit, followed by spearmint.

- Calhoun County The Kane County Fair opened in 1948
- While the 1904 World's Fair was in its closing weeks, a young writer named Upton Sinclair headed to Chicago to visit the Packingtown slaughterhouses, and his investigations would be published as The Jungle in 1906. His efforts and those of other reformers culminated in the Pure Food and Drug Act of 1906, the first major piece of legislation to outlaw adulterated or mislabeled food products, and the beginning of federal oversight of the nation's food supply.
- The first Major League Baseball All-Star Game was held at Comiskey Park (home of the Chicago White Sox) in conjunction with the 1933 Chicago World's Fair.

New product debuts at the chicago Worlds's fair 1893

- 9. Cracker Jack: Supposedly, creators Lewis and Frederick William, aka F.W. Rueckheim, saw potential for their snack comprised of popcorn, peanuts and molasses and marketed it at the Fair. The brand name was later given by a Frito-Lay representative and today, Cracker Jack is a baseball game staple.
- 8. Zipper: Whitcomb Judson and Colonel Lewis Walker took Howe's concept and invented the "clasp locker," which they debut at the Fair. Although their design wasn't successful, it paved the way for further designs until it became the zipper we all know today.
- 7. Pabst Blue Ribbon Beer: The beer won several ribbons at local and state fairs, but when it won the blue ribbon at the Chicago Fair, the name was changed to Pabst Blue Ribbon.
- 6. Commemorative Stamps: When the U.S. Post Office heard of all the excitement surrounding the Fair, they jumped on the opportunity to come out with the very first set of commemorative stamps. These unusable stamps were souvenirs and were called the "Columbians." The U.S Mint also capitalized on this frenzy and came out with a half-dollar with Columbus' profile on it.
- 5. Pressed Pennies: At the Fair, the design was simple with raised letters saying "Columbian Exposition 1893".
- 4. Spray Paint: The aerosol spray paint cans we know today weren't invented at the time of the Fair (they were invented in 1949), but the idea certainly sprang from it. Several of the buildings for the Fair needed a little sprucing and to speed up the process, artist Francis Davis Millet developed a way to spray the paint on the exterior of the buildings.

3. Dishwasher: Inventor Josephine Cochrane patented the dishwater in 1885. She developed the concept for the next 4 years and demonstrated it at the Fair. Her company took off and is what we now know as KitchenAid.

2. Aunt Jemina Pancake Mix: To market the product, the new company hired Nancy Green, who was born into slavery in 1834, to play Aunt Jemima. Green made her debut at the Fair where she made instant pancakes for the public. The Quaker Oats Company bought the brand in 1926 and updated Aunt Jemima's image in 1989 to resemble a modern homemaker as opposed to a stereotypical African-American housekeeper.

1. Ferris Wheel: Construction on the wheel began in 1892 and was completed in time for the Fair. Bystanders watched in excitement and fear as Daniel Burham, Margaret Ferris and investors rode the wheel. Each car was 24 feet long and 13 feet wide and could hold 60 passengers. The Ferris Wheel ran without any problems at the Fair and made $395,000, which helped keep the Fair from going in financial ruin.

As you enjoy the "great outdoors" this summer, please note the following: Bread is BAD for waterfowl. It does not contain the correct nutrients or calories for birds to thrive, or even to help keep them warm in winter. Rotting bread pollutes the water, causes surface algae, kills fish, and causes the water to smell. As you enjoy the summer, remember:

YES to feeding birdseed (any type), cooked rice, peas, corn, oats, chopped lettuce;

NO to feeding bread.

Imagine how hard just one bee works in a single day. Each bee visits at least 2,000 flowers daily! They make many of our flowers bloom and they dramatically assist our food supply. Bees get thirsty and need safe water sources. They need very shallow water to drink so they do not drown, so birdbaths are not optimal. Streams, rivers, and lakes have fish, frogs, and other wildlife that like to eat bees. An easy water feeder for your yard is to fill a pie pan with marbles and then with water. The marbles slow the evaporation and give the

Order sweet summer

Fresh Peaches

The Kane County Farm Bureau is now taking orders for juicy, homegrown Peaches fresh from Rendleman Orchards, a southern Illinois grower.

These delicious peaches are washed, hydrocooled, graded to U.S.#1 Extra, 2½ inches and up in size, and packaged in a 25 pound wax coated fancy box with a lid. They are delivered to our office on Randall Road the morning of pickup in a refrigerated truck for freshness and long lasting quality.

The grower recommends the peaches, which are available in the month of August, for their sweetness and juicy flavor. The peaches are freestones (easily comes off the pit). If you like to make peach pie or cobbler, or you like to can or freeze peaches, now is the time to take advantage of this once a year offer.

Peaches are highly perishable. They are shipped when they are a little green so that when they arrive they are not bruised with juice running out of the box. The grower recommends that the peaches be refrigerated immediately when you get them unless you are planning to can or freeze them within the next day. Then when you want to use them, you can take out however many you think you will use in the next day, let them sit out in a paper sack overnight, and they should be ripe and ready to eat or cook with. Peaches should not be out of the refrigerator for more than 24 hours. If they are left out too long, they are very susceptible to mold.

The price for a 25 pound box is $29 (Plus member price), $30.00 (member price) and $32 (non-member price). PAYMENT IS DUE WITH ORDER. You can order by filling out the form and sending it in with your check, or call the Farm Bureau at 630-584-8660 and pay with a Visa or MasterCard. Pickup will be on Thursday, August 24th from 2:00 p.m. - 6:00 p.m. at the Farm Bureau office, west side of the building (in the shed).

County Fairs and Childhood Memories

By Kristi Van Oost

There are a few things from my childhood that I cannot forget ... like the smell of my mom's lasagna, or the feeling of fresh soil in my grandparents' garden. A few weeks back I was helping my mom clean out the storage space in the basement when we stumbled across an old box of my stuff from when I was a child. When I opened the box I found treasures galore, like my first ever pair of riding boots, my favorite stuffed horse I slept with every night, and an old straw hat.

It is funny how a simple accessory like an old straw cowgirl hat can being back so many memories. Just one look at that old hat sent me back to a 7 year old version of myself, running around the county fair.

Going to the county fair was always a summer tradition for my family. My parents would pack plenty of sunscreen and water before loading my two sisters and me into our van before heading to the fairgrounds for what was my favorite night of the entire summer.

We would go on all the rides ... ferris wheel, tilt-a-whirl, even the swinging canoe ... and of course we would eat all of the fair favorites like cotton candy, corndogs, and funnel cakes. My sisters always enjoyed winning prizes at the various game booths. My favorite thing about the fair was all the animals.

As a young girl from the suburbs, I absolutely loved walking through the different animal barns. I would demand that my dad come with me to see the cows, pigs, goats, and horses. Of course he would always say yes, and with my little straw cowboy hat firmly on my head, we walked slowly through all the barns, stopping to watch nearly every animal in the barns.

I don't quite remember the last time I saw that little hat, with its red trimming and star on the front, but I remember how much I adored wearing it to every county fair as a child.

Now that I am older, I still enjoy going to the county fair every year, except now I don't participate in the same activities I did when I was young. While I don't spend hours on rides or playing games, I get the chance to meet those families, like mine, who attend the fair as an annual family tradition.

This year, the Kane County Farm Bureau will once again be occupying our barn area, bringing back everyone's favorite activities like the scavenger hunt and farm zoo. We have some pretty exciting new features to look out for as well. On Friday, July 21 we will be hosting a fun painting activity starting at 5pm. Fairgoers are invited to help paint another BIG canvas to use as "peek boards." You can even get a free ice cream cone for helping out.

We'll also have a few new displays set up, including a special "31 Days of Christmas" raffle display. Here you can learn about and purchase raffle tickets for our annual scholarship fundraiser, and even see some of the prizes you could win in this year's raffle.

Rather than toss my beloved hat back into a box to be forgotten, I opted to repurpose it by using it as a decoration in my room. Every time I am feeling a little down, I use it to remind me of those happy memories ... and I am taken right back to the good old county fair.

Kane County seeks comments on stormwater changes

On January 1, 2002, the Kane County Stormwater Ordinance became effective. The Ordinance requires that farmers obtain a permit for any land disturbing activities greater than 5,000 sq. ft. or 250 cubic yards, and allows rural land owners 25,000 sq. ft. of gravel, paved or roof area before stormwater detention is required. All typical farming activities are exempted from this Ordinance.

The Kane County Stormwater Management Committee was reactivated in January of 2017. There have been many changes in stormwater management over the past 15 years and the County Board approved funding to update current Ordinances. As part of this update, the Committee changed the bylaws allowing for an Agricultural Subcommittee to represent rural landowners. Everyone is welcome to attend the first Subcommittee meeting and participate in the progress. The meeting will be held at the Farm Bureau.

A special Subcommittee meeting will be held July 19, 2017 at 5:30pm at the Kane County Farm Bureau to gather feedback on the current Ordinance from the Ag Community. We want to hear about:

1. Positive and negative experiences with the current permit process.

- 2. Impacts on farmland from caused by development (surface runoff and drain tile)
- 3. Thoughts and suggestions about stormwater detention on Ag. Property, other options?
- 4. Concerns about future nutrient (phosphorus & nitrogen) regulations and how that fits into the Ordinance
- 5. Other thoughts and ideas

Please RSVP to the Kane County Farm Bureau at 630-584-8660. If you are unable to attend, written comments can be submitted to the Kane County Farm Bureau as well. Please indicate "Stormwater Update" on your correspondence and send it to 2N710 Randall Rd, St. Charles, IL 60174.

Come out and show off your artistic skills (or lack thereof) at our one night only painting extravaganza. Join us Friday, July 21 from 5-? at the Farm Bureau building on the Kane

Paint & Sip, part County Fairgrounds as we paint scenes on another BIG canvas to use as a "peek board" for the County Fair, Touch-A-Tractor and other community events. (A peek board is a photo or canvas adults to poke their head through for pictures.)

In lieu of adult beverages, our helpers and guests can enjoy ice cream cones from the Kane next door as a thank you for all who stop by to help us paint. No painting experience is necessary. Should you find yourself in need of some liquid courage

prior to picking up a brush, you can stroll down to the beer garden 200, away, for some live music and something more substantial than ice cream.

We hope to see you there.
